MAD CELEBRITY SNAPS

I got this photo of Matisyahu, a great reggae/rap singer, at the airport. He was going home after a concert here in Kauai, Hawaii. It was hard getting his picture, so if you give me something, can it be something good?

Kevin Killermann, Kalaheo, HI

Mt. Killermannjaro — For sending us this Celebrity Snap, we're sending you a one-year subscription to MAD! Sorry it's not something good! —Ed.

MAKE A DUMB WISH FOUNDATION™

A couple of weeks ago, I was reading MAD #487 while eating a Snickers Bar. "Rejected Catchphrases from Rambo" made me laugh so hard that a piece of peanut came out my nose. My wish for the MAKE A DUMB WISH FOUNDATION™ is that on the front of MAD there be a warning that says: "Eating a Snickers Bar while reading magazine could cause chunks of peanut to shoot through your nose" or at least publish my letter so others won't have to feel my pain.

Craig Kleinpeter, Baton Rouge, LA

Craig's List — That's nuts...literally! Next time, you should eat spaghetti while you're reading MAD — that way when it comes out of your nose you can just suck it right back into your mouth in one continuous loop! If you decide not to heed our advice, then you should re-read the article while eating some jelly, so you can at least achieve the full PB&J effect! —Ed.

MAD ON THE ROAD

On January 13, 2007 at the Ocean County Library in Toms River, New Jersey, MAD Senior Editor Jonathan Bresman gave a multimedia show about his book MAD About Star Wars. Jonathan told behind-the-scenes tales about the long-standing relationship between MAD and director George Lucas and regaled the audience with the now legendary confrontation between MAD publisher William M. Gaines and Lucasfilm's legal team. Various Stormtroopers, Imperial Officers, and one menacing Dark Lord of the Sith joined the party, courtesy of the 501st Legion's Northeast Remnant and Garrison Carida. Everyone had a good time, thanks largely to the efforts of the Ocean County Library's Program Coordinator Scott Rodas, Scott's son, Matt, and library PR guy Chris Barnes.

CORN ON THE SOB

I am a 13-year-old boy in Texas. I am in the 7th grade and I love MAD Magazine. My mom and step-dad got me into it. I love reading all the quotes about the U.S. Government and other things going on in the world. I was just reading the newest issue, the "monkey" issue. I was laughing so hard, I started crying. I really liked "How to Draw A Monkey." The line "...then put a teardrop under the left eye for number of monkeys killed in prison" made me laugh the most. I shared an order form with my 48-year-old stepfather. My mom loves how we tell her the stories. I like MAD because it is weird, which is also weird because I am a Boy Scout. Also this letter will help me get a merit badge. (Weird, but cool!)

Victor Gratt, Austin, TX

Slick Vic — You laughed so hard that you cried? It's a good thing you weren't eating a Snickers bar, otherwise peanuts might have shot out of your eyes. Actually, that sounds awesome! Why don't you try it and tell us how it goes! —Ed.

For those lucky enough to have their letters printed, you'll receive 2 fabulous things! First up, Indiana Jones The Adventure Collection DVD set, including all three Indiana Jones movies, courtesy of our friends at Paramount Home Entertainment. You'll also get the Naked Brothers Band's new album I Don't Want To Go To School courtesy of our friends at Columbia Records. If your missive didn't make it, don't eat your fedora or break your iPod! Both items are on sale now!

LET ME TAKE YOU TO MONKEY TOWN

I cannot imagine what possessed you guys to pass off an entire issue of MAD as "written and drawn by monkeys," but wherever idea this was, I'm sorry to say it wasn't the least bit funny. The lengths you all had to go to try and milk monkey-related gag lines out of every panel in the magazine, were all too painfully apparent, even to the point of using the same "jokes" over and over again. OK, monkeys love to fling poop, we get it, move on. I have a friend who's a big fan of Monk and I didn't even bother showing him your supposed satire because it's more chimp humor than actually poking fun at the foibles of the character. Certainly, you can come up with a snarky reply to my letter, and even make it look as if the reply was written by a monkey, but the bottom line is still the same — in all my 40 or 50 years of reading MAD, this is the first issue I can recall that was totally without a shred of humor from cover to fold-in.

Steve Haller, Oak Park, MI

Hallerback Boy — We're so sorry you didn't enjoy the Monkey issue. There's nothing we value more than the opinions of long-time readers. So we stayed up all night and came up with an exciting idea that we think you'll really get behind. Look for an upcoming special issue of MAD written and drawn entirely by cranky, whiny, boring old men! (Snarky enough?) Thanks for writing! —Ed.

CASE CLOTHES

Recently, on a trip, my friend Callie wanted to drive through a wild animal park, and I said I would agree only if she bought me a monkey t-shirt. However, when we finished the tour, we found that the gift shop was closed. Callie just gave me the April 2008 issue of MAD Magazine and tried to convince me that it was better than a monkey t-shirt. Please tell Callie that a MAD Magazine, even if entirely written by monkeys, is no substitute for a monkey t-shirt! I can't wear a magazine, can I? I'm sure you'll back me up.

Jeanette Handling, Jacksonville, IL

Handling With Care — Why on earth would we — a magazine — say that a t-shirt was better than a magazine? Magazines are way better than t-shirts! Don't believe us? Here's why:

- 1) Magazines don't shrink in the wash.
- 2) Magazine colors don't fade.
- 3) T-shirts don't come with little cards that allow you to order a subscription for more t-shirts.

On the other hand, no one would ever pay to see a "Wet Magazine" contest! So, maybe you have a point and you did get shafted after all! —Ed.

ALL HANDS ON DESK

For a long time, I took my copy of MAD each month to work so I could read it instead of doing my job. Not too long ago, it began to disappear from my desk whenever I'd step out. I had suspicions of who might be the culprit and one day, I finally caught him red-handed. He was very embarrassed and swore that he would never take my MAD Magazine again and he explained that he only did it because he was too cheap to buy his own copy. Unfortunately, he has been true to his word. Each subsequent issue of MAD has been undisturbed and I've since been stuck with this idiotic magazine.

Tony Comunale, Astoria, NY

Bad to the Tone — We know how you feel, we're stuck with you as an idiotic reader! —Ed.

DIET TIPS FROM FAT STEVE

- When you buy a dozen donuts, tell yourself, "I'm only going to eat 11 today, and leave one for tomorrow." Over the course of a decade, this will save you thousands of calories.
- Grocery shopping on an empty stomach causes you to buy more food at the market. To avoid this, have a huge, fat-filled meal before you shop.
- Lovemaking is an excellent way to tone muscles and burn calories. We recommend 4-5 hours of sex per day. We can't tell an obese, unattractive person like you how to find a mate, however. This isn't tips on dating.

From George Lucas

To Steven Spielberg

Re: Indiana Jones and the Kingdom of the Crystal Skull

Steve:

Let me begin by saying how THIRLED I am to begin working on our fourth installment of the Indiana Jones trilogy. I don't care what the critics say. If there's one thing that The Phantom Menace proved, it's that I know how to take beloved characters, put them in fresh situations and surround them with new, interesting characters — all without tarnishing the legacy of the original and disappointing fans who've waited a quarter of a century for a new adventure. Sorry the critics! And screw the bloggers, too!

I'll start with the elephant in the room — Harrison Ford's age. On the screen we can (and do) make an old-groomer playing an action hero, but we can't do it in real life. As owner of his age, his "special needs," specifically, we're replacing the traditional Craft Services table to feed the cast and crew with an Early Bird Special. Keep it under your hat, but Harrison's people are (nudging or snidely) only.

In this movie, Indy is mostly talking Russian, but the final shooting script may include some Nazi references. I know you've depicted Nazis in other projects you've worked on subsequent to the original Indy trilogy, so to be on the safe side I offer this quick reminder:

- Revenge, negatively characterizing Raiders of the Lost Ark's Nazis = Good

- Sadism, Holocaust-tinged Schindler's List Nazis = Bad

Bad news: Space Cowboys learned Don't a chance to reprise his role as Indiana Jones' father. He said that if America wants to use a post-9/11 movie as a platform to teach its youth the virtues, they'll just go see Kiss Kiss, Bang Bang in the City center.

Good news: Karen Allen said she's got room in her busy schedule to reprise the role of Marion Ravenwood from Raiders, assuming she can get another actress to cover her shifts at Baby Backs.

She knows, when I don't, I always like to cast at least one truly mediocre actor (see Mark Hamill, John Lloyd or Hayden Christensen). That way I can be sure his performance doesn't distract the audience from all the cool special effects. You should try to use the same method when you direct this film. Which reminds me, did we get the LaFare?

I got your note about waiting until this movie is historically accurate, and I agree. Since Craft Services takes place in 1937, I should depict important events of the year — like the racial governor of Arkansas keeping blacks out of Central High school. But, you know, in that his light-hearted Indiana Jones way.

As you know, the script hints that the Crystal Skull is more comic again, and I want to make sure we have a really scary, ghoulie-looking alien — long neck, leathery face, bopping eyes, etc. — that the

For whatever reason, when I showed it to Harrison, he totally freaked out on me!

I'm still working on the obligatory "Indy Gets Injured" (see An Uncomfortably Tight Space) Tilld Rick, and I've reworked out Monks. Hey, there's I thought what if we had him on this baby? You remember Indiana Jones as a man's man?

Well, I guess that's about it. Needless to say, I'm really excited. I know the budget on this baby is high, but don't worry. I'm using the Blue Screen business model. In 30 years I can re-release the film with 20 seconds worth of new, shiny computer effects and charge all these nostalgic suckers another 12 bucks to see the "Special Edition." Ka-ching! Ka-ching! Ka-ching!

Yours,

George

An important message from MAD's
Director of Business & Development,

JEFFREY LOZENGE

In troubling times such as ours — and by “ours” I mean yours and mine, not someone else’s, which would be their troubling times, not ours — people — and by “people” I mean us, not those others who aren’t us but them — well, I’m sure you know what I’m getting at.

MAD — and by “MAD” I mean MAD — is a magazine whose time is and continues to be. It defines who we are and where we’ve been and where we are hoping to go if we can only find the money and get some time off. No reasonable person would argue with that.

And so it’s with that in mind — and by “that” I mean this, which is what I am about to say: I don’t wear a green suit with a question mark because I look attractive in it. I wear it because I must. A man must do what a man must do. And so must a woman. We are all one in nature’s garden.

THE NUMBER ONE ECCH MAGAZINE

In April 1974, MAD published its most infamous cover—the so-called “Finger” cover. Rejected by many newsstand dealers across the country, the issue saw limited distribution, resulting in horrible sales and one very depressed publisher.

With returns of this now rare and collectible issue pouring in, MAD's founder and publisher, William M. Gaines, sent several boxes of the issue to the MAD vault, where they remained, undisturbed and forgotten, until last year when the vault was emptied.

Now, here is your chance to own your very own copy of this legendary issue. Subscribe to MAD Classics and get an ORIGINAL COPY of MAD #166 ABSOLUTELY FREE!

You'll also get a Certificate of Authenticity signed by MAD editor John Ficarra. (Probably not worth much, but it might give you an edge when you try to resell this on eBay a few months from now!)

Demand is expected to be high and the number of issues is limited, so it's important that you act NOW to insure that we're able to give you the finger!

In the classic scene from the very first Indiana Jones movie, Raiders of the Lost Ark, the daring archaeologist exclaims, "Snakes! I hate snakes!" But that was many years ago, and since then the world has changed and our hero has faced many new adventures. We bet that today snakes wouldn't even make Indy's list of the 10 things he hates most. In fact, given that we have the following article written, drawn and ready to fly, we're sure of it! Here's...

10 THINGS INDIANA JONES HATES MORE THAN SNAKES

here's the show that stars Michael C. Hall, the guy from Six Feet Under! On that show, he could talk with people who had just died. On this show, he speaks with people who are about to die! We guess that's a step up in some perverse way! On this series there's so much mutilation and gore, the producers thought of calling it Dissect and the City Spinal alert, maybe they only seen the first season, but (and don't kill us now) we're talking on the first two seasons of...

I'm Deathster Morgan!... I kill people... lots of people heads. I'm a raging doctor of dissection... the glowing fly of dissection sheds my vision... a head of misery melancholy runs over me... with saturation like that, you're probably wondering why I don't work on The Weather Channel? Killing is part of me! Sometimes I work fast but most times I'm slow and methodical — for instance, you see these dissects I always bring in for my co-workers? They're headed with leaves! Let me introduce the crew!

That's Detective Angel Bushmaster! He's great, especially in cases involving Miami's large Cuban and Latino populations! You know, I love the Spanish language, the words sound so romantic to me... muerte, machete, dissection!

When I work undercover, no one suspects I'm a cop — that's because of my tickle switch! On my regular police salary, even the homicide have better deals than me! Working undercover investigations with Deathster is... how shall I put it... delicate. Puggie's weird! I once told him I read that the five stages of dealing with death are: Denial, Anger, Bargaining, Depression and Acceptance. He told me he's the stages of dealing with death are Anticipation, Regret, Joy, Ecstasy and Orgasm!

These two are Captain Tara Ashmore and Lt. Maria Lagababb! They're devoted to the silver screen before my training as a modern police procedure... getting their face on TV more often than the cops on Law and Order!

Collecting Miami's latest serial killer is going to call the most good old-fashioned police work, so I'm issuing a press release! I'm calling a press conference!

I'm setting up a photo op with the General! I'm sitting in for Jim Belar on The View!

You said I'm sitting in for Elizabeth Huesbeck! Thanks, you're good!

Here's my sister Sister. Delecta, an up-and-coming detective! To say she has "go problems" would be an understatement! Her last boyfriend almost broke her heart — and her lungs, spine, head and neck! When we were growing up, I didn't think there was anything unusual about Delecta! In fact, we used to play at the stadium kids games, the Cowboys and Cattle Mulattures, Cops and Deceptive Killers and Slice the Head Off the Donkey!

DEATHSTER

WINTER: GRANTLE BRADY

ARTIST: HERANAGA AGUA

That picture is my sister, Sister Morgan! He was a brilliant policeman and a kind, decent and loving father. While he waited I collected the forensics of a serial killer. He did what my great cop would be caught not to bleed in and hide in places my great cop would be killing for decades! Thanks, Dad!

Heinrich Oswald! He's the only member of the force creeped out by real Cops! He's the Dark Passenger within me! The camera that hangs over my soul, with a missing witness of anguish and emptiness? Of course, a deeper, deeper witness of... he just doesn't like white guys!

What Deathster doesn't know is I have some secrets of my own! I'm a former Special Ops officer and I've seen some pretty violent and disturbing events, like the first Gulf War, Russian cops and the worst of all, when Miami was flooded with Russian Revolutionaries during the 2000 Florida Presidential vote recount THAT was ugly!

That's Sister Delecta — my fellow forensic expert, as well as a horny, hot-mouthed, great, inappropriate, cartoonish making great! There's a lot of fun in the Miami scene of Delecta and Butthead!

Contrary to what Deathster says, I'm very sensitive and tender! The affection of a woman I like to cause the smell of my back, perfectly edible for her skin, with my skin — raw if I could only achieve a LIPSTICK to let me do that!

Again my girlfriend — she's damaged the car — an abusive husband gave her an abortion to physical pleasure. Good thing for me, because for me, though we involve the use of a reciprocating saw!

Deathster is sweet! After my last relationship, I feel so pale and lifeless, but Deathster seems to LIKE that! When I'm asleep, he's opened books, sticking at my neckless heart! He brought me some perfume he likes me to wear — it has a foreign taste — Frenchified!

Don't forget real I'm Lar! Deathster's spouse is a substance abuse program! I'm very angry, and I have a British accent and long, jet-black hair. Add my drug addiction problems and general crudeness, and you can see why I'm being used for trademark infringement by Andy Whorem!

The body has been completely drained of every drop of blood!

Holy $@%#! Where did you guys learn forensics — Comedy Central?

Drained of every drop? My God, the killer's a divorce lawyer!

No blood left? I say the killer's a Hollywood agent!

My guess is the killer's an IRS auditor!

Wow...this wasn't the work of an amateur — whoever did this is a virtuoso, a van Gogh of vivisection, a Liberator of lacerations, a...oh, sorry, maybe some of you listening to this voiceover don't get that dated "Liberace" reference! He's a Biggie of butchery...better?

Reepa doesn't know my secret, so I can tell her anything and she thinks I'm being funny...

Dinner was great tonight. Reepa!

Why do you have to leave so soon?

I have a body to dispose of!

Ha Ha! Oh Deathster, Your jokes kill me!

Yeah, I'm such a cut-up! I can really slay people!

I like her — she's dim!

In fact, I DID have a body to dispose of — a local store owner I determined was a merchant of death...

Edgar Gurbay, you're responsible for the deaths of many people!

But I just run a super-market and pharmacy!

Right — and you sell Chinese-made goods covered with lead paint, prescription drugs that cause more harm than good, and too many carcinogen-containing products to mention!

Every store owner in Florida does that!

Oh, and if every store owner walked into a chainsaw, would you? Never mind, I'll help you!

Killing makes me feel whole — it's my playmates who go all to pieces! I've already killed 35 people — though I say I've only killed 28 — tax purposes!

Instead of disposing of the corpses in random places, I dump all the bodies in the same spot! That's because I'm meticulous — rather than a random body turning up now and then, if this underwater graveyard is ever discovered, it'll draw LOTS of attention and I might even be caught! Yeah, I'm meticulous — I'm like Felix Unger in a production of The Odd Couple as directed by Wes Craven!

SLICE of LIFE

The serial killer has struck again!

Amazing! It's like the killer is speaking to me!

This copycat killer must know about me! I have to find out who this guy is! It's like he's saying to me "Let's play a game." If it was Monopoly, instead of a little scotty dog or a wheelbarrow for tokens, we'd be using aortic valves and corneas! Hey, give me a break! Not all these narrative voiceovers can be gems!

He took my story-book!

She spit in my juicebox!

But Deathster, I'm afraid of steely knives!

And sitting someone's abdomen and spilling their intestines on the floor is gross!

Kids, I don't want you fighting! Work things out the way I taught you — just like my Dad taught me!

These kids today — what are you going to do with them?

Back home after disposing another person who deserved to die! After a kill, I bring a drop of my victim's blood home on a microscope slide and put it in a box I hide in my air conditioner! I'm not worried about being caught by the Miami P.D. — It's the Maytag repairman I'm deathly afraid of!

I'll see if there's anything on the news about that copycat killer...

The grizzly serial killer strikes again, but first our top story — Paris and Lindsay in a double DUI arrest!

I know it's against my code, but I really feel like putting those two on my hit list! Then again, news anchors who bombard us with this trivial trash are probably the worthier targets!

To investigate the rash of murders and the bodies just discovered underwater, the FBI has assigned Special Agent Dank Lunky!

Lunky! He broke the Anthrax case, the Megadeth caper and the Insane Clown Posse crimes!

Those were all serial killer cases?

No, illegal download cases! He was in the Music Piracy Squad!

Uh-oh! They've called in someone from Washington, D.C.! I could be in trouble! Then again, considering how the feds handled Hurricane Katrina, I needn't worry! Still, I'd better stay alert and stick to my principles — yep, I feel it's time for a flashback scene with dear departed Scary, the man who adopted me!

Deathster, if you must kill, make sure it's someone deserving — someone sadistic, the personification of evil!

Like drug dealers or murderous pedophiles?

Yes, and that banker that talked me into an adjustable rate mortgage! The @$&!

We've profiled the killer and here's what we know: he has a knowledge of human anatomy and blood, just like Deathster! He has a boat, just like Deathster! He's neat and meticulous, just like Deathster! But the trail ends there...I'm baffled!

Hmmm...maybe Lunky's not as smart as everyone thinks...that FBI guy on The Sopranos was smarter, and he never caught Tony...boy, the Feds on cable aren't anywhere as good as the ones on the networks!

I'd better stop killing for a while — spend time with Reeps — not arouse any suspicions as to my true, violent nature...

Want to watch a DVD?

Okay! It's comedy night! Our choices are Saw III, The Silence of the Lambs or In Cold Blood — get ready to laugh!

I haven't felt comfortable with another man since my last boyfriend turned out to be the Ice Block Killer! But I feel secure in your wrinkled arms, looking into your old, cataract-filled eyes...

All right! I do have a question, Debrat: as a police officer, how did you not pick up on the Ice Block Killer's creepiness, macabre behavior, and gruesome manner?

I did notice — and it put him miles ahead of anyone I ever met on Craigslist!

I don't like you, Deathster! I'm sick of the sight of you! So I'm going to follow you everywhere and keep watching you, day and night!

You realize the contradiction in your statement?

It's no different than the President declaring "no child left behind" as he cuts funding for their education!

Good point, but you have an excuse — a metal plate in your head!

Deathster, I'm glad your relationship with Reepa has gone bad — I've wanted to get you in my bed since I met you! Now I'm going to kiss your cheek and run my hand through your hair!

Yeah, baby! And I'm going to hold your other hand and look deeply into your eyes!

Damn, these sex scenes are absolutely awful since they've been edited down to show on CBS!

Oddly, the bloody gore and violence has been left pretty much intact!

With the Feds on my tail and new bodies piling up, I needed a way to tie up all the loose ends, to make all the evidence disappear without suspicion...

Hey, everybody, I have something to show you in the forensics lab...

You've all been working so hard, that instead of just bringing in donuts, I've set up an all-you-can-eat buffet!

These finger sandwiches are delicious!

Try the liver pâté — it's to die for!

I've never tasted a tomato sauce so thick and rich!

Do you know how long it's been since I had headcheese?

Are these pig's knuckles?

I thought it was tongue!

Thanks, Deathster! You know us hungry cops — there won't be a single leftover!

I'm counting on it!
