EARL'S INITIAL INQUIRY

I've read MAD for 30 years, and have somehow managed to teach school for 20 of those years. Did you know that Alfred E. Neuman's initials backwards—N.E.A.—are the same as the National Educational Association? Does this mean if we read MAD backwards there is an educational message?

Earl Holden, Jr.
Zillah, WA

No, but it does mean that for the past 20 years, the kids of Zillah, Washington have been taught by a COMPLETE LUNATIC!—Ed.

"SENSELESS IN SEATTLE"

I can't believe I'm writing a letter to the editors of a magazine I loved and laughed at and grew up with and even sent material to, back in the 8th grade, in 1968, which you never even acknowledged! However, I'm the guy who thought up and wrote Sleepless in Seattle, the movie you skewered in your January '94 issue—and I just had to tell you what an honor it is! To have childhood heroes like Mort Drucker and Stan Hart go to work on me, and all of the folks involved in the movie, is just about the coolest thing that could have come from this whole experience—almost better than getting paid! So it's nice to see you finally printed something of mine—although I saw a photo once of your late and esteemed founder William Gaines' office, and I'm wondering if my stuff from '68 isn't still in there somewhere!

Jeff Arch
Clifton, VA

Jeff—Thanks for your very kind letter. Based on your suggestion, we took a look and indeed did find your 1968 submission. Our 4-star editorial staff carefully reviewed it and unfortunately, it is their considered expert opinion that your writing shows little promise of being commercially viable...They recommend you start taking some accounting courses and forever give up the dream of one day becoming a successful Hollywood screenwriter—Ed.

PRANK DISCUSSION

I have a big problem. I like playing pranks. Sometimes I play good ones, too! I need better ones. Could you help me? Thanks for your time.

Dan Moffitt
Salinas, CA

Dan—the Man—No problem! Here are some of our favorite pranks: Call the Howard Stern Show, and when you get on, yell out "Larry King!" Also, pick out a victim, and whenever you see them, limp. When they ask you what's wrong, say "Oh, nothing." But as they walk away, mutter just loud enough so they can hear you, "What a dip!" Our all-time favorite prank, the one we recommend most, is sending your victim a subscription to MAD! Try it! It works every time!—Ed.

With this, our seventh year of spotlighting a reader's picks for the best of the year, we decided to shake things up by printing two readers' picks! Per-

CAMPBELL'S WHOOOP

The enclosed political cartoon appeared in the October 24th, 1993 issue of the Montreal Gazette, depicting Canadian Prime Minister Kim Campbell as Alfie (or vice-versa). The very next day, Ms. Campbell and her Conservative Party went down to a record-setting defeat in a federal election. Go figure!

Edward Stokes
Montreal, Canada

After seeing the editorial cartoon and reading your letter, we're beginning to have second thoughts about NAFTA! By the way, did you know Lorne Greene was from Canada? Thanks for writing!—Ed.

MORON MAIL

What the &@%$ were you thinking when you chose Prince Charles as the winner of the Alfred E. Neuman look-alike contest (MAD #324)? You should clearly be able to see that when Alfred E. grows up (if he ever does) he will look like David Letterman!

Adam Duffy
Scituate, MA

True, but when David Letterman grows up, he's going to look like Prince Charles—So what's your point?—Ed.

Have your questions, comments, compliments, criticisms and craziness ready! (And no, thank you, Larry King will not be hosting!) In future months you'll be able to speak to other members of the usual gang of idiots, too! Watch the Letters Page each issue for date and time to call! And don't forget — at all other times you can FAX MAD at the same memorable phone number 212-PLANUPA!

HAPPY AND SADLER

Hardly a day goes by that a well-known Hollywood star or big name in the world of music doesn't drop by our offices to say hi and join in the MADness! Recently, accomplished actor William Sadler, perhaps best known for his portrayal of fanatical Colonel Stuart in the film Die Hard II stopped by for a tour! Even so, He wasn't saying whether or not he'd join the cast when they inevitably make Die Hard III to try and breathe some much-needed life into Bruce Willis' rapidly fading film career. It's a good thing your wife, actress Demi Moore, is bringing home a regular paycheck, eh Bruce?

TO NOT DO WELL:

Upstage Dave.

TO NOT DO WELL:

Try to say something serious.

ARSENIO HALL

TO DO WELL:

Mention the basketball game you were at last week, using only the first name of the star players.

TO DO WELL:

Praise the acting talent of the rapper who had a small role in your film.

TO NOT DO WELL:

OPRAH WINFREY

TO DO WELL:

Use hackneyed clichés to denounce racism.

I don't care if you're black, white, yellow, green, purple—it's what's inside that counts!

TO DO WELL:

Weep openly for the full hour.

Let it all out, girl! People should see this and learn from your pain!

TO NOT DO WELL:

Misunderstand the point of the show.

Our topic today is sibling rivalries! Lisa Filberts, why don't you get along with your sister?

Forget it, Oprah! This is neither the time nor the place to discuss such personal matters!

PHIL DONAHUE

TO DO WELL:

Suggest Phil run for Congress.

You should go into politics, Phil! Whaddayya say, folks?

You flatter me, Mr. Danza! Now getting back to Samantha, was it hard for Tony Micelli when she left college? I mean, we're talking about your baby girl here!

TO DO WELL:

Demonstrate your freakish activity live in the studio.

Today, women who strip in front of their fathers! We'll give you a chance to ask questions in a moment, but first, so that our discussion can be an informed one, let's watch the ladies in action!

TO NOT DO WELL:

and forget they are talking to you... Suck!*

Society tells us that if we "play by the rules" we will always get ahead in life. Well, we've been playing by the rules and we haven't gotten anywhere for our troubles! It's the people who don't "play by the rules" that seem to be getting ahead, while shmoees like us go nowhere! Is the only way to win the game of life to cheat? It kinda makes you wonder...

What Does it Say About Playing by the Rules When...

ARTIST: SAM VIVIANO WRITER: MIKE SNIDER

...the usual "reward" for someone who blows the whistle on corruption in the government is being fired?!

...those Middle-Eastern hostage takers (and the "outlaw nations" that supported them) have now gotten most of what they originally demanded?!

...the college coaches who often practice "grade fixing" and illegal recruiting can almost always boast having teams with winning records?!

...America's current "National Hero" and "Elder Statesman" are two schmucks who barely escaped serving time in jail?!

...hoodlums who flunk a grade are promoted, just so the teacher can be rid of them?!

...supermarket tabloids make tons of money telling lies while papers that practice responsible reporting are going bankrupt?!

...people who dutifully pay for car insurance also wind up paying for damages caused by deadbeats who don't?!

...a tennis player who curses, screams, and even spits at officials gets paid big bucks for commercial endorsements because he's a "highly visible" player?!

...the only Miss America in the last 25 years to get anywhere in Show Biz is the one who posed starkers in Penthouse?!

...jerks who smuggle every piece of luggage they own onto the plane as "carry on" usually get away with it?!

Burning the roof of your mouth so bad that a little piece of skin hangs down and flaps around for, like two days... Sucks!

In the old days, when you had an accident or personal tragedy, you called the police and within minutes cops, firemen and medical personnel were at your door to help you. But these days, everything is showbiz. Call for help and along with the cops come television producers with lights and cameras, ready to video your pain, misery and suffering in the name of prime time entertainment! Be forewarned. Next time disaster strikes you, you might easily find yourself in an even bigger disaster—the television show we call...

MISCUE 911

ARTIST: JACK DAVIS WRITER: DICK DEBARTOLO

Good evening! I'm William Shatter! The scenes you are about to see involve real people! No actors were used! This is because actors cost real money, and we can get real people for no money!

Everything's real except his toupee! Man-o-man! Talk about a cheap rug!

I've been in this hole longer re-creating this scene than when I was really trapped! I'm tired and hungry! Can't I please, please go home?

Hey, there are a million 911 stories each week! You're damn lucky we picked you! So shut up!

Although some real footage is used, to heighten the dramatic effect, we re-create, re-write, re-edit, make-up, add to, change, alter and fabricate additional "facts!"

Hang a little further over the ledge!

But I could be killed! Besides, this is where I actually landed when my safety belt broke during my real 911 emergency!

What a wuss! Prop department, see if you can get some bats to fly in his face while he's hanging on! This scene needs more zap!

Of course, the tense background music and dramatic "stings" you'll hear throughout this show were not present during the actual emergency—except for the time a tidal wave hit the Miami Philharmonic!

Our first story takes us to Washington D.C., on June 3rd, 1991! A fire truck screeches to a halt in front of a house! Fire Chief, Roscoe Dalmation, picks up the story.

When we answered the call, I was amazed not to see flames, or at least some smoke! We immediately went to the back door because that's easier to chop down without nosy people asking why we don't ring the front bell before wielding our axes!

After we broke in, we still couldn't find any sign of fire or smoke! But fire can be tricky. It can travel BETWEEN rooms! So we chopped giant holes in the walls!

I notice you also ripped down the ceiling and tore up the floor! Did you do that because you were looking for fire?

No, we did that because we were real angry we couldn't find a fire in the walls!

So, it was nothing but a false alarm?

No, that's where the fun comes in! Ha-ha! It was one of those "silly" little mistakes that happens now and then! We were supposed to be at—he-he-he—711 Elm, and we were at 117 Elm! Isn't that a scream?

How are the people who own 117 Elm going to live in that mess your men made?

They don't have to worry! The place will be condemned! Well, gotta go now—we have to see if anything's left standing at 171 Elm!

No! You mean 711 Elm! What ever!

The High Sierras. A man is hurt in a hiking accident. Wait! That wasn't dramatic enough! Let me start again! A family man, a man who just thought he'd take a leisurely hike, has his whole world turned upside down! Listen!

Hello Dominos? I'd like to order two pizzas! One with extra cheese and one with double sausage!

Now that we got that ever recurring scene of the tape machine out of the way, let's go back to the hiking story! Amazingly, the victim turns out to be Defrosted Kelly, a man I've worked with many times in the past nine decades! Let's beam down to Defrosted as he picks up the story!

I was in the initial stages of my hike to the top of Montgomery Cliff! Suddenly, I heard this terrible crunching sound! It was my ankle! I had broken it!

How far up the cliff were you?

Not very! I was still in the shoe store! The boots I was buying were tight and the salesman pushed too hard! He broke my ankle! I'm not the man I used to be! Yesterday I snapped a vertebra in my neck while nodding!

ACTUAL RECORDING OF A WRONG NUMBER TO THE POLICE DEPARTMENT

In the woods, a tree has fallen, creating a bridge over a ravine! Some kids crawl over the fallen trunk to get to the other side!

The biggest boy is afraid to try because he's heavier than the rest, but he decides to chance it anyway!

Putting this "free ice cream" booth over here did the trick! Nothing's going to stop these kids from crawling over that rotted out tree branch!

→ FREE ICE CREAM

But when Sam Friedman got to the middle of the tree trunk it started to break! A passerby called 911 on his portable phone—we intercepted the call and sent a camera crew first!

Yes officer, about that kid trapped on a tree—you should send help, but take your time—send someone in about an hour!

When the 911 film crew got there, the first thing they did was climb a branch above Sam to get dramatic shots of him below! They had to work fast though! Sam could be rescued any minute which would mess up everything for us!

Don't move! Your weight is all that branch can take! Now listen carefully! I'm going to lower this 50 pound video camera down to you! Hang on to it and use it to shoot some footage straight down, so the audience can see the dangerous and helpless position you are in!

We learned a powerful lesson that day! No matter how dramatic the shot will look on TV, don't take chances! Our cameraman did! And he was fired—for losing a 30 thousand dollar video camera!

Not every story can have a happy ending! Timmy Racine watched his house burn to the ground, too terrified to call for help!

Timmy, if you saw the house was on fire, why didn't you call 911???

It's your fault! After I spent $187 phoning the WWF Hotline, you told me never to call a 900 number again! I was only following your orders!

2 a.m. Mrs. Chic Giltz is about to give birth! Her husband puts her in the back seat of the family car, but the car won't start! Frantically, he calls 911! The personnel there can read important instructions from emergency manuals to the lay person!

Don't panic! Tell your wife to "push," and tell me when you see the baby's head!

I see it! What do I do now?

Add a cup of finely chopped garlic and three tablespoons of olive oil!

I don't know much about birthing babies, but are you sure that's right?

Ooops, sorry! The women here at 911 all watch TV cooking shows between calls, and copy down the recipes on anything handy—including these emergency manuals!

Although he was nervous at first, Chic delivered their baby without a hitch! It was so much fun, he started hanging around maternity wards, jumping into cars to help other mothers give birth! He is currently serving a one year sentence for practicing obstetrics without a license!

You have reached 911. It is Tuesday evening 8 p.m. EST. The switchboard will be closed until 9 p.m. EST—while we watch Miscue 911! We want to see if any of our stories got on! Please call back, and have a nice evening!

Our "bang up" finale takes us to a stretch of highway in Arizona! A clear road is suddenly turned into a demolition derby! As we drove our video truck at breakneck speed down the wrong side of the highway, into the oncoming traffic, we noticed vehicles speeding right and left, and sliding right off the road!

Then three ambulances, driving at breakneck speed from the east, collide with four police cars, driving at breakneck speed from the west in a spectacular maze of twisted metal!

You did a perfect job causing that big crack-up! Now see if you can get a couple of fire trucks from the north to crash into some more police cars from the south!

Mr. Shatter, do you think you'll ever run out of material for your program?

As long as there are two cars left in America, you can count on my guys to engineer them into a collision!

Careful where you step
Mr. Shatter! Don't slip on the oil I
"accidentally" spilled on the highway!

I'll be careful, and so should all of you, or you may suddenly find yourself sprawled helplessly in front of our cameras, next time on... Miscue 911!
